The Walking Match.

NEW YORK, September 24.—Merritt turned 234 miles at 11:29. He slept but little last night, although off the track nine hours. The score at noon was: Weston 196 miles, 5 laps; Rowell 259, 2 laps; Hazael 224,; Guyon 234, 7 lapse; Enniss 205, 3 laps; Panchat e85; Merritt 2r5, 5 laps; Hart 222, 7 laps; Krohne 198; Taylor 110, 3 lapse; Jackson 193, 6 laps; Federmeyer 183, 1 laps. There was no betting against Rowell.

The score at 8 P. M. Weston, 233; Rowell, 290; Hazael, 260; Guyon, 263; Ennise, 220; Pauchot, 205; Merritt, 267; Hart, 255; Krohne, 224; Taylor 135; Jackson, 222; Federmeyer, 205.

From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 24.—A Los Angelos dispatch says G. Wiley Wells received a letter from Colonel Mosby, stating th at before the name of Bailey, the late consul at Hong Kong was sent to the Senate as consul general at Shanghai, the Secretary of State was in possession of Mosby's despatch charging Bailey with being a defaulter to the government with a record of evidence sustaining the charge, and that not until Bailey's confirmation and part of Mosby's despatch had been published did the Secretary of State take notice of these charges. The department then sent for General Stohl, of the consulate at Hyogo, a friend of Seward and Bailey to investigate the truth of charges made by Mosby. Stohl concluded the investigation and has been obliged to report to the department that the charges are true. Also that Sewards private secretary Colcomb has written letters to various officials in China denouncing Mosby, also that Seward is using his influence to shield Bailey and prevent the investigation. There was also evidence to show that Bailey was placed at Shanghai to cover Seward's tracks.

Singular History of a Letter.

Washington Post.

Seven years ago Mr. Albro L. Parsons, a resident of Nashville, Tenn., wrote a letter to Miss Julia Mays, of London, England, which, from marks on the envelope, certainly reached London. On the fifth of last month it was found very mysteriously in a street letter box in Louisville, Ky. From that city, the postmark being Nashville, it was sent to the latter place, and thence to the dead letter agency, where it was opened and returned to Nashville for delivery, with a request for an explanation. The Nashville postmaster, ascertaining that Mr. Parsons was residing in Denver, sent the letter to him. Mr. Parsons therefore got his original manuscript seven years after he wrote it, and at a time when Miss Mays, the lady for whom the letter was intended, had been his wife for six years. The mystery is how the letter got back to this country (not being marked unclaimed) and how it found its way into the street letter box at Louisville.

KEEPING BOARDERS.

The Experiance of a Veteran Landlady of Detroit.

Detroit Free Press.

"Another boarding-house busted up, I see," sighed a venerable Detroit landlady, as she laid down her paper. "Well, it must have been extravagance on the table. That's what bankrupts seven out of ten, and even then the boarders are crying 'hash!' and complaining of poor meals. Now I run a boarding-house for twenty-two years, and I made money and heard no complaints. How did I do it? Why, it's all in planning. For instance, a neckpiece of mutton can be cut to look like a rib roast, and a little extra fire makes it just as tender. Lawd save you! I've been complimented a thousand times on my selection of choice spring lamb when the meat was mutton four years old, and the toughest part at that! The idea of spring chicken on a boarding-house table is absurd—aye! almost wicked. In my palmy days I could take a tough old hen, and pound the body with the potato masher for ten minutes, and set before my boarders a feast to make every heart glad. Now I'll venture that there aren't ten landladies in the city that can bake a pig's head and slice off the meat in a manner to make everybody believe that he has the choicest cut in a pig's body, and it's a wonder to me that there aren't more failures. Lots of landladies buy nice, fresh butter, and thus tempt a man to eat five or six biscuits or half a loaf of bread. What economy! I always had my nice butter on the table at breakfast, when we had little but toast, and the boarders got along on old butter the other two meals. It is all in the planning—all in the planning. Three mornings in the week I bought sirloin, which is very nice, you know, and the other four mornings I bought neckpieces and rubbed the case-knives over the grindstone. Give a boarder a sharp knife and a tough steak and he'll never make a complaint—never. He'll put the blame on his teeth, and the more steak he leaves on his plate the more rabbit-pie you will have for dinner."

VICKSBURG'S DANGER.

The Mississippi River Leaving the City an Inland Port.

Commandent Wilson, of the United States steamer Wachusett, has submitted a chart of the Mississippi river at Vicksburg to the Navy department showing the "cut off" at that place, and in connection therewith some interesting details. For more than ten years it has been evident that the river above Vicksburg would cut a channel for itself through the narrow peninsula around which flowed past that city. Nothing was done, however, to arrest the catastrophe. A cut off occurred near this very place one hundred years ago, an account of which, written by a Catholic priest who was an eye witness to it, is now in the library of the State of Mississippi. The line of the banks of the old river can still be traced, and in the swamps to the northwest of the city a bayou, formerly a part of the old channel, bears the name, "Wrong End of the River." An interesting point in connection with these "cut offs" is that the current flows down stream in the branch of the former channel and out of the up stream one. The current, of course, is much weaker than in the main river. On the 27th of April, 1876, the river broke through. So rapidly was the new channel widened and deepened that in a-half hour after the occurrence a steamboat passed through without grounding. From that date the right bank has been washing away; and it became evident that unless something was done the river would soon be at such a distance that Vicksburg would cease to be a commercial port. The work of arresting the catastrophe has been prosecuted with energy, all bearing on the endeavor to make the right bank permanent.

"State University."

Correspondence of the News.

I find a short communication in the Chapel Hill Ledger under the above caption. The writer says Governor Jarvis wants the four leading denominations to demand aid from the legislature for their colleges. The writer opposes this, and thinks everything and everybody should turn to the University. I did not know that the Governor had any such desire. I am glad to hear it. The immense majority of the tax payers do not believe in a State college; they do not want it, do not patronize it and never will. They believe it is unjust, unwise and unreasonable to be required to pay taxes to support an institution for a few. This question will come before the people next summer; it will be a part of the contest in 1880. The people have a right to discuss it and have their say at the ballot-box—and they will.

VOX POPULI.

Quarantine Injunction.

NASHVILLE, September 24.—President Plunkett, of the State Board of Health, received a telegram last night from John Johnson, superintendent of quarantine at Memphis, stating that an injunction would be granted against the rule prohibiting the introduction of loose cotton, and that the best legal talent would be of no avail, and that the case must be removed to the Supreme Court or before another Judge, and asking for instructions. Plunkett replied: "If no lawyer can be obtained to resist the application for injunction you are directed to appear yourself before the court as a torneys of the board to pursue such course as in your judgment the facts in the case may warrant. The attorneys here will advise you tomorrow morning what steps we shall take afterward."

An Outrage.

Greensboro North State, 18th.

We are informed that parties of men and women, in all, some twenty or thirty, are killing the trout by the wholesale in our mountain streams by exploding torpedoes under the water in the deep pools, where they love to congregate. This has been during the summer in Toe river, in Linville river above the falls and in Banker's Elk in Watauga county. The State has begun, at great trouble and expense, to stock our streams with fish, and the legislature has passed some laws for their protection, and it does seem to us that stringent laws should be passed to prevent this wholesale destruction.

We call on the Democratic papers to urge the legislature to take steps to put a stop to this outrage.

[The NEWS of course will take strong grounds against such wholesale slaughter; but it seems strange that a call should be made on Democratic papers only, where the interest of community is to be served. This is a matter outside of politics, and papers without regard to party will undoubtedly condemn the wanton proceeding.]

DEMOCRATIC POLICY.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE IN COUNCIL.

Distorted Accounts of its Proceedings---Contests over Customs---The District Commission.

WASHINGTON, September 23.—On the the night of the meeting of the National Democratic Committee, in this city, allusion was made in this correspondence to the distorted accounts of its proceedings that were certain to be sent from hence. A sample of these distortions is the recital of a difficulty alleged to have occurred between Mr. Thompson, of Ohio, and Mr. Ross, of New Jersey, growing out, as is asserted, of the determination of the friends of Judge Thurman to sacrifice Ewing in order to secure Thurman's re-election to the Senate. The new York Tribune of to-day fathers this statement. The Tribune, in the manufacture of Southern outrages, and in its constant, deliberate and systematic perversion of facts wherever politics are concerned, is evidently doing penace for the brief season of moderation and fairness which characterized its course during the period that it was laboring to elevate Mr. Greeley to the Presidency. In regard to the meeting of the Democratic Committee, your correspondent can state, on authority, that the entire meeting was harmonious, cordial and pleasant; that there was a unanimous concurrence of opinion, and sentiment among all the members present; there was no dissension, no dispute, and not a breath that could indicate even a suspicion of jealousy between Thurman and Ewing. As gentlemen in private conference always speak with freedom and with some latitude, the discussion was at times somewhat animated on one or more points of interest, but there was at no time so much as a spark of unpleasantness between Messrs. Thurman and Ross.

AN IMPRACTICABLE SUGGESTION.

A difficulty which the Treasury Department has always had to contend with in the matter of the duties on imports is the difference in the amount of appraisement of goods at the various ports. This has often been the cause of serious complaint on the part of importers, and the department has experienced embarrassment in settling the disputes which have arisen in consequence. Recently the suggestion was made by one of the Western appraisers to establish a bureau of samples at Washington, to which samples of all goods imported, at whatever point, shall be sent and the appraisement made here. This would, of course, make the appraisements uniform, but the department, after due consideration, has concluded that the idea is not practicable. As a matter of certainty it would be opposed by the New York influence, which would contend that if such a bureau was created it should be established at New York. It could not be established, at any rate, without the authority of Congress.

THE DISTRICT COMMISSION.

The information is given by those in a position to know that there is no danger at all of the removal of Mr. Commissioner Phelps, and it is further stated that the impression that the President contemplated his removal is erroneous. At the same time friends of Mr. Phelps intimate that in consequence of delicate health he may voluntarily resign his commissionership. It is true that Mr. Phelps has failed to give satisfaction in the discharge of the very responsible and delicate duties devolving upon him, and it is also quite true that no one short of an angel would.

CALIFORNIA POLITICS.

Mr. George C. Gorham, who has arrived in Washington, from California, shows by his utterances that he is as much of a stalwart Republican as ever, and that he still hates Hayes and the Demoocratic party about eqnally. Mr. Gorham confirms entirely, what has heretofore been generally understood, that the election of the Republican candidate for Governor of California is not a party triumph in any sense of the term. According to Mr. Gorham, the Central Pacific railroad not only worked teeth and toe nail to elect the Republican candidate, who is entirely in its interest, but has also control of the "Democratic machine," which gave it the power to "bust" the Democratic candidates. Mr. Gorham is, however, quite confident that either Grant, Conkling or Blaine can carry Califonia next year, and that even Sherman may, if he is not handicapped by the Hayes administration.

AN UNEXPLAINED PHENOMENA.

The Size of a Cart Wheel and Glowing Like a Live Coal.

From the Breakfast Table.

An unexplained phenomena was witnessed several evenings last week by a number of people living in the vicinity of Woodward hill, nearly opposite the Park Hotel. John Hyman, the depot master, first noticed it on Monday evening, and has been trying to solve the mystery ever since. The object spoken of is, or was apparently a large ball of fire, which, for three successive evenings made its appearance over the brow of the hill, and, after floating about in the air for some minutes would burst and form into smaller balls, which in turn would also seemingly explode, and gradually become reduced in size until they were finally invisible. John didn't exactly know what to make of this curious sight, and on the second evening he called the attention of the hotel guests to it, but they were equally at fault to explain it satisfactorily. On Wednesday evening the excitement had reached a fever heat, and a great crowd of people lined the depot platform and the fences beyond the track from whence a good view of the phenomenon could be obtained. It did not make its appearance until about nine o'clock, and then as it suddenly came in sight and rolled along the brow of the hill the spectators held their breath in astonishment. In size it was as large as a cart-wheel and glowed like a live coal, emitting very minute sparks similar to those sometimes seen flying from the armature of an electric battery. It seemed to be pliable and elastic, for on striking an obstacle it would bound up in the air and then continue on its singular journey. At a certain point about two-thirds of the way across the hill it suddenly arose to a height of nearly fifty feet, and with a report plainly audible flew into a hundred pieces. The sight now looked like a beautiful pyrotechnic display, and a murmur of admiration came from the spectators. Presently, as on former evenings, the particles formed into smaller balls, some of which had been thrown nearly half way down the hill, but, after hovering about for a few seconds, returned to the crest and formed a circle, only to be broken when the succeeding explosions took place. Several gentlemen crossed the field which intervened and started up the hill, determined to solve the mystery, but the ball receded at their approach, and they could get no nearer than at first, and so the party returned.

At first this peculiar object was supposed to be a Will-o'-the-Wisp, but as there are no swamps or lowlands anywhere in the vicinity, this theory was soon abandoned. Another gentleman thought it was a meteor, but an examination of the ground over which it passed gave no evidence of its presence.

It has not been seen since Wednesday night, and whether it will again return to puzzle our people, we are not prepared to state.

A Likely Farmer.

"Let's see, they raise some wheat in Minnesota, don't they?" asked a Schoharie granger of a Michigander.

"Raise wheat! Who raises wheat? No, sir; decidedly no, sir. It raises itself. "Why, if we undertook to cultivate wheat in that State it would run us out. There would'nt be any place to put our house."

"But I've been told that grasshoppers take a good deal of it."

"Of course they do. "If they didn't I don't know what we would do. The cussed stuff would run all over the State and drive us out—choke us up. Those grasshoppers are a Godsend, only there aint half enough of 'em."

"Is that wheat nice and plump?"

"Plump! Why, I don't know what you call plump wheat, but there are seventeen in our family, including ten servants, and when we want bread we just go out and fetch in a kernel of wheat and bake it."

"Do you ever soak it in water first?"

"Oh, no; that wouldn't do. It would swell a little, and then we couldn't get it in our range oven."

Greeley on Lawyers.

"Mr. Greeley," said Partridge, "this is Mr. Denslow, a young attorney." Greeley uttered a short grunt of recognition, but did not even look around. I, embarrassed, shrunk away to one corner and took a chair. He went on around the room, looking at pictures and what-not, and in about five minutes, when his back was turned on me, and I thought he had forgotten me, he suddenly, without looking at me, said: "Hem! So you're an attorney, are you?" I confessed it. "I hate lawyers!" he exclaimed emphatically. "I hate lawyers; they do more mischief than their heads are worth!"

"I suppose they are a necessary evil," I suggested, deprecatingly.

"Wholly unnecessary," he insisted.

"I suppose you will acknowledge," I said, "that they promote good order and remove impediments to good government."

"Just the contrary! just the contrary!" he squeaked, in his odd falsetto; "they cause disorder, and they are the chief obstacles to good government."

I thought the man was crazy. "Perhaps you will tell me," I suggested, "how debts would be collected without lawyers?"

"Don't want 'em collected! don't want 'em collected!" he squeaked. "If A lets B have his property without payment, I don't see why C, D, E, F and all the rest of the alphabet should be called on to serve as a police to get it back! No debt should be collected by law. It's monstrous! Let a man trust another man at his own risk. Even a gambler pays his debts that he isn't legally obliged to pay, and calls them debts of honor; but men will pay their property out of their hands to prevent the legal collection of their grocery bills. Abolish all laws for the collection of debt, and that would abolish most of you lawyers---good riddance!"

All Dead.

Detroit Free Press.

Six months ago a colored man living on Indiana street, gave a white man living on Third street his note of hand for $20, due in six months. A white man living on Beaubien street indorsed it, and the holder soon sold it to a man living on Twenty-fourth street. The note fell due last Saturday, and was in the hands of a widow, whose husband died four weeks ago. In tracing up the note it was found that the maker, the indorser and the two men who had held it were all dead, though every one was in good health when the note was made. Learning of this state of affairs, the widow made no effort to collect payment, but tore the note to pieces, fearful that some bad luck might come to her.

FARO BILL EXHORTS.

PREACHING AND PISTOLS IN LEADVILLE'S GOSPEL TENT.

The Parable of the Prodigal Son in Colorado Vernacular---Respect for the Gospel Maintained.

Carbon Journal.

Of course I went to Leadville, that wonderful mushroom city which can boast of the most rascally gamblers, hardest drinkers, cheekiest bummers and vilest prostitutes in creation. One's first impulse upon arriving in the town is to start out and see the sights—to gaze upon the many gambling hells, where money is ever changing hands upon the turn of a card. Above the sharp clicking of the ivory checks can be heard the voices of dealers calling upon the players to "Make your bets, gentlemen," while notes of exultation and cursing come forth in strange chorus, uttered by those who lose, and those who win. But it is not of gambling I would tell you. The scenes are but duplicates of those so familiar to every pioneer in the early days of the Union Pacific railroad.

I was standing in front of the hotel when my attention was attracted by a dilapidated, antiquated looking specimen of a saloon bummer, who was passing along the street ringing a bell. At intervals he would cease ringing, and shout:

"Religious racket right away at the big tent! Roll up, tumble up, or slide up on yer-y-ears, fur we'll have a bang-up dish o' Gospel talk from Faro Bill—an' d-o-n-t you forget it!"

Turning to a dapper little gambler who stood near, I asked:

"Who is Faro Bill?"

"Who is he? Well, now, if that ain't the boss play fur high. You kin break me right here if I thought there was a bloke in the mines that didn't know Bill. He used to be one o' the boys, but got capped into a religious game by a slick-tongued gospel sharp about two months ago. He's chopped on all his old rackets, and don't stand in with nothin' now that don't show up a Bible or prayer-book in the lay-out. Billy used to be the boss gambler of the camp, and warn't afeared to sit in a game with the slyest sport that ever flung a card; but he's clean gone on the pious lay now, and seems to have lost all the good there was in him. The boss mouthpiece of the heavenly mill has gone down to Denver, an' Bill is a goin' to stand in an' sling gospel to the boys as well as he can.

This explanation, given in the most earnest tones, started me instanter for the big tent. It was used at night for a variety theater, where artists (?) of a questionable character performed acts of still more questionable decency, and was rented for religious services every Sunday morning. I found the tent filled to its utmost capacity. Many had, no doubt, come through curiosity to see how Bill would deport himself in this, his initial sermon. Upon the stage sat a burly, red-faced man, with arms folded in a careless manner, who looked over the large audience with an air of the most decided independence. This was Faro Bill, the speaker of the occasion. When he arose he glanced around the tent for a moment, evidently collecting his thoughts, and began:

"Feller-citizens, the preacher bein' absent, it falls on me to take his hand and play it fur all its worth. You all know that I'm just learnin' the game, an,' of course, I may be expected to make wild breaks, but I don't believe thar's a rooster in the camp mean enough to take advantage o' my ignorance and cold deck me right on the first deal. I'm sincere in this new departure, an' I believe I've struck a game that I can play clear through without copperin' a bet, for when a man tackles such a lay-out as this he plays every card to win, and if he goes through the deal as he orter do, when he lays down to die, an' the last case is ready to slide from the box, he can tell the turn every time.

"I was readin' in the Bible to-day that yarn about the Prodigal Son, an' I want to tell yer the story. The book don't give no dates, but it happened long, long ago. This Prodigal Son has an old man that put up the coin every time the kid struck him for a stake, an' never kicked at the size of the pile either. I reckon the old man was purty well fixed, an' when he died he intended to give all his wealth to his kid an' his brother. Prod give the old man a little game o' talk one day, and injuced him to whack up in advance o' the death racket. He'd no sooner got his divy in his fist than he shook the old man an' struck out to take in some o' the other camps. He hed a way up time for a while, an' slung his cash to the front like he owned the best payin' lead on earth; but hard luck hit him a lick at last, an' left him flat. The book don't state what he went broke on, but I reckon he got steered up agin some brace game. But anyhow, he got left without a chip, an' a Granger then tuck him home an' set him to herdin' hogs, an' here he got so hard up an' hungry that he piped off the swine while they were feedin', an' he stood in with 'em on a husk lunch. He soon weakened on such plain provender, an' says to himself, says he: "Even the old man's hired hands are livin' on square grub, while I'm worryin' along here on corn husks straight. I'll just take a grand tumble to myself an' chop ou this racket at once. I'll skip back to the governor an' try to fix things up, an' call fur a new deal,' so off he started.

"The old man seed the kid a coming and what do you reckon he did? Did he pull his gun and lay for him, intending to wipe him as soon as he got into range? Did he call the dogs to chase him off the ranche? Did he hustle around for a club and give him a stand-off at the front gate? Eh? Not to any alarming extent he didn't. No, sir! The Scripture book says he waltzed out to meet him, and froze to him on the spot, and then marched him off to a clothing store and fitted him out in the nobbiest rig to be had for coin. Then the old gent invited all the neighbors and killed a fat calf, and give the biggest blowout the camp ever seed."

At the conclusion of the narrative the speaker paused, evidently framing in his mind a proper application of his story. Before he could resume a tall, blear-eyed gambler with a fierce mustache arose and said:

"'Taint me as would try ter break up a meeting, or do anything disreligious. No, sir; I am not that sort of a citizen. But in all public hoo-doos it is a parliamentary rule for anybody as wants to ax questions to rise up an' fire them off. I do not want ter fool away time a questioning the works of religion; oh, no. As long as it is kept in proper bounds, and does not interfere with the boys in their games I do not see it can do harm. I just want ter ax the honorable speaker if he has not given himself dead away? Does it stand ter reason that a bloke would feed upon corn husks when there was hash factories in the camp? Would anybody hev refused him the price of a square meal if he had struck them for it? Would any of the dealers that beat him out of his coin see him starve? As I remarked afore, I do not want to make any disrespectable breaks, but I must say that I have got it put up that the speaker has been a-trying ter feed us on cussed thin taffy, and no one but a silly would take it in."

Bill glared upon the speaker, and fairly hissed;

"Do you mean to say that I am a liar?"

"Wal, you can take it just as you choose. Some folks would swallow it in that shape."

Bill pulled his revolver, and in an instant the bright barrels of numerous weapons flashed in the air as the friends of each party prepared for active duty. The brevet preacher was the first to fire, and the rash doubter of spiritual truths fell dead on the ground. Shot followed shot in quick succession, and when quiet was again restored a score or more of dead and wounded men were carried from the tent. Having secured attention Bill said:

"Further proceedings is adjourned for the day. You will receive the doxology."

The audience arose.

"May grace, mercy and peace be with you, now and forever, amen; and I want distinctly understood that I am going to maintain a proper respect for the Gospel if I have to croak every son-of-a-gun of a sinner in the mines. Meetin' is out."

The crowd filed from the tent as coolly as it nothing had occured, and as I gained the side-walk I heard a man remark:

"Bill has got the sand to make a bang up preacher, and I wouldn't wonder if he made a big mark in the world yet."

A WHAT-IS-IT.

The People of Berks County Excited Over a Mysterious Animal.

READING, Pa. Sept. 21.—Quite a large searching party has been organized in eastern Berks for the purpose of scouring Muhlenburg and Ruscombmanor to hunt up and capture, if possible, one of the strangest looking beasts ever heard of within the borders of this county. What gives emphasis to the sincerity of the people engaged is the fact that responsible and reliable parties were first to report having seen the so-called monster. A son of Prison Inspector Schmehl was the first to bring the intelligence to Topton Station. O. H. Hinnershitz, proprietor of the leading hotel there, and a number of others went in pursuit of what Mr. Schmehl described. The monster had been reported on previous occasions and when Mr. Schmehl saw it it was lying near a gate entrance to a field through which he was about driving a lot of cattle. The "what-is-it" is represented to be about four feet tall, long arms, with but two talon-like fingers on each paw; feet without toes, furrows on its head, body smooth and naked, quite yellow, looking as if it had been wallowing in clay. Jared Rissmiller heard of the animal. It had run up toward Schmehl with extended paws, and then darted into a corn field and was lost to view. The two men then went in search, and discovered the animal on the other side of the field lying near the fence. It reared up on its hind legs like a man. Rissmiller says it is yellowish-brown in color, has no hair, small eyes and face, arms about about fourteen inches long, legs somewhat longer, the hands and feet resembling those of a human being, and has two horns on the top of the head. The men made a raid on the monster. When they say it darted toward the forest and was soon lost in the foliage. A Mr. Heckman, also residing near there, is reported to have seen the beast and he is inclined to believe that it is a large-sized ape, that may have escaped from some traveling menagerie. Every cornfield is to be searched, together with the neighboring swamps, for the purpose of ascertaining what the young men have really seen. After the recent rains the farmers plainly saw very strange-looking tracks in the sand on the road side. They have also heard very unusual howls at night and the dogs of the neighborhood have been trying to hunt down the beast without success. At first a large number of people were disposed to view the thing as a joke, but this feeling is gradually changing. No efforts will be spared to solve this matter and to discover all that there is in it.

The Late Homicide in Pender.

Wilmington Star.

William J. Walker, more familiarly known as Buck Walker, charged with the killing of one Frank Bell, colored, at Dr. E. Porter's place, near Rocky Point, Pender county, on the 9th of July last, full particulars of which appeared in the Star at the time, was arrested by Mr. W. E. Cowan, of Burgaw, and had a preliminary examination before Justice W. E. Duncan at that place on Thursday. We learn that three or more witnesses testified positively that deceased was advancing upon Walker with a knife, threatening to kill him, and that he struck him over the head with a hoe in self-defence, fracturing his skull. At the close of the investigation Walker was admitted to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the Superior Court.

Ginger as a Beverage.

There is a natural craving by the human palate for ginger in fluids of a demulcent character, and its warming and soothing properties are always recognized in the soothing draught. Its attributes in allaying thirst are remarkably pronounced, the resinous quality operating upon the salivary glands and gratefully allaying the irritation which prompts to continual drinking. As an antidote to intoxication, the use of ginger cannot too highly be commended, and those who are interested in the temperance cause give it their most hearty approval. In the form presented by Dr. Sanford, in his superior extract of Jamacia Ginger, it is most congenial to the taste, and it is fast becoming a delightful adjunct of home comfort, as well as a beneficial household medicine. Its botanical name, Zingiber, suggests its use as a beverage by its sound.

Naming the Presidential Candidates.

New York Sun.

At a dinner given last evening by the Washington correspondents to one of their corps who has entered upon new duties, about twenty of the leading newspapers of the country were represented. Slips of paper were handed about the table, and the guests were asked to write upon them the names of those whom, in their judgment, would be the candidates of the Democratic and Republican parties for President in 1880. A decided majority thought that Tilden would be the Democratic candidate and that Grant would receive the Republican nomination. Bayard, Hancock, David Davis, Sherman, and Blaine were named by a few of the correspondents.

IN TROUBLE.

COUNTERFEITERS OUT OF THE WAY.

Spurious Legal Tender Notes Ingeniously Concealed In a Walking Stick.

In June last a man giving his name as Charles Davis was arrested in Buffalo for passing counterfeit money, the note that he passed being a $5 legal tender. It was a well-executed counterfeit. Davis was lame. He walked with a cane, a substantial-looking wooden stick, which he was permitted to carry to his cell. A thorough search of the prisoner's clothing showed that he had no counterfeit money in his possession. One morning after Davis had been in jail three or four days a guard found on the floor in his cell a pile of ashes, evidently the product of burnt paper. A close examination of these ashes disclosed the fact that they had been legal tender notes. The officer who guarded the police station in which Davis was confined could not imagine how the prisoner had secreted the money that he had destroyed. An officer of the secret service went to Buffalo and saw among the articles taken from Davis at the time of his arrest a corkscrew with a suspiciously long screw; and then Davis's cane attracted the attention of the detective. The ferule was taken off, and the centre of the stick was found to be hollow. A short distance down a cork was discovered which the detective drew out with Davis's corkscrew. A string was attached to the upper end of the cork. The counterfeiter had fastened his counterfeit notes to this string, let them drop into the hollow of the cane until the cork stuck fast, and then fastened on the ferule.

Another person had been seen with Davis in Buffalo, assisting in passing the counterfeit notes, and he was arrested in Erie with one of the counterfeits in his possession. He called himself James Reed. Both men were lodged in the Maysville prison, and there they pretended not to know each other.

After Reed had been taken from the police station in Buffalo three tramps were put into the cell that had been occupied by him to pass the night. These tramps were unusually anxious to get away next morning. Suddenly new counterfeit $5 legal-tender notes were in circulation near Buffalo, and a tramp was arrested with several of the counterfeits in his possession. He said that, with two tramps, he had passed a night in the Buffalo police station, and there found in a crack in the floor of their cell $600 in counterfeit legal-tender notes. The money was divided among the tramps and they seperated.

The secret service officers have found out who the prisoner Davis is. It was known that an old counterfeiter named John Johnson, who had dwelt in Indiana for many years, had a lame son named Charles Johnson, and a picture of this Charles Johnson made his identity with Charles Davis clear. The grandfather of Charles Johnson, alias Davis, was an expert counterfeiter. His name was George Johnson. His son, John Johnson, was a counterfeiter, and much of his time was passed in prison. On the trial of James Reed it was shown that Reed's true name is Thomas Ira Johnson, and that he is Charles Johnson's brother. Yesterday the two brothers were convicted of passing counterfeit money, and were sentenced to ten years imprisonment each in the Albany penitentiary. The plates from which the conterfeit notes were printed have not been found.

MOORE.

CARTHAGE, Sept. 23.—I have just learned that N. B. Taylor, who killed S. W. Seawell some time back has been arrested near Benetsville, South Carolina, and is in jail at that place. Seawell was one of the guard in whose charge Mr. Womble, of Chatham county, got Taylor's two stills when he seized them and Seawell was on his way to Egypt with the stills when Taylor overtook him and shot him. Seawell left a wife and several small children.

More than a Mile a Minute.

There has recently been a controversy among railroad engineers as to the speed of trains, some contending that it was impossible to go at the rate of a mile a minute. On Thursday a test was made on the fast train of the Pennsylvania railroad between Philadelpia and New York, which makes no stop for a distance of eighty miles, between Germantown Junction and Jersey City. Five miles were passed over in exactly four minntes and fifty-five and a quarter seconds. At another point three miles were made in two minutes and thirty-six seconds. No extra speed was made on this train, which consisted of four cars containing one hundred and sixty-three passengers. The engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad assert that there are a dozen trains every day that make a mile a minute on every trip.

Sound Politics.

A Dutch farmer at Fairbury, Ill., on being asked if he was a Democrat, answered:

"Nix; I ish not a Demograd."

"Are you a Republican?"

"Nix; I ish not a Republican nider."

"Then, you have not got any politics?"

This seemed to be an impeachment, and he got indignant, and in a burst of wrath he defined his position.

"Hain't got no bolidix, eh? You bet I got more so much bolidix es you don't never will dare to have got."

"Well, what is your party and politics?"

"Vat ish my bolidix? Vy I dells you vot my bolidix is: Feifty cents a pushel for mine gorn und doo glasses of lager for nine cends. Dem's my bolidix. Dem's better bolidix then your tam Republican or Demograd bolidix. Eh, vot you got to say now, by tam?"

Perhaps.

Over the grave of a three-year-old child buried near Midford, Connecticut, last year, a beautiful white swan has ever since kept constant watch, scarcely leaving the mound even to eat. Any one who attempts a near approach is greeted with the bird's shrill cries and preparations for an attack. The swan's mate endeavored for some time to induce her companion to return to the lake, but without success, and eventualy died of grief. Hundreds of people have visited the cemetery to witness the conduct of this self-stationed sentinel.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1879

THE Republican column is forming with its left wing resting on Maine and its right on California, and will move South at the earliest practical moment. —Chicago Tribune.

But its center—oh, where is it?

THE Hon. Erasus Brooks, who is a strong anti-Robinson man, says he will abide the decision of the New York Democratic State Convention, and support all its nominees, including the head of the ticket.

THE official returns give the Democrats one of the four California Congressmen. The news is important about the proportion that it is late in coming. It will have the effect of increasing the Democratic majority in the House two.

THE Washington Star says: "Senator Jones, of Florida, who has been in city for a few weeks, laughs at the statement made by Judge Settle and ex-Senator Conover, that the Republicans can carry the electoral vote of Florida in the next national campaign."

THE Chicago Tribune has adopted a new system of orthography. It chops off the final letters from decalogue, programme, catalogue, etc., and knocks out the fourth s of assassin, and all this in order that it may squeeze in another column of editorials of the Okalona States. So much for skill, enterprise and economy.

THE Chisholms will be avenged, but not by the fox-hunting officers of justice in Kemper county. The people of the North will take the contract of punishing the Southern brutes who murdered the Chisholms.—Chicago Tribune.

How about that little socialistic picnic at Chicago last summer? Were the Northern brutes who fired into a crowd of women and children ever punished?

A GOODLY number of Northern Radical papers are terribly exercised over Democratic "splits" in Georgia and Texas. If they take care of the Republican "splits" in their respective States they will have their hands full without going away from home to borrow trouble. It may be possible, however, that they have found that trying to heal their own dissensions is a fruitless job.

THE Chicago Tribune thinks that if Judge Ham had been obliged to sentence Gully his life would have been taken inside of twenty-four hours. Perhaps it was this idea that influenced Judge Barnum to decide the Illinois militia law unconstitutional and thus free a lot of socialistic murderers—and these same villains shot down women and children likewise. Illinois would do well to attend to her own murderers first.

THE Syracuse Courier is not at all alarmed. Hear it: "The form which the opposition to Governor Robinson's renomination by the New York delegates finally assumed will, doubtless, be worth many thousand votes to him in the rural districts. Notwithstanding the bolt, we look for Governor Robinson's vote, outside of New York, to be swollen to such a degree as to elect him independently of New York. Governor Tilden was elected in 1874 without the aid of that city, and why not Governor Robinson as well?"

NOT ALTOGETHER WISE.

The Charlotte Observer of Tuesday contained a letter relating to the probable future of the gubernatorial field. Rather racy and good in itself, but not strictly accurate in its details. Want of space compelled us to omit the letter in yesterday's issue, and, as we preferred to make editorial allusion to it also, nothing was lost by the omission.

For some weeks it has been an open secret that a prominent lawyer of this city—a very able man, by the way, and one who has made for himself a national reputation—would like to lead the independent movement in this State. It is no idle talk an "independent movement." This movement is already "booming" in Georgia, Mississippi and Florida, with a fair prospect of dividing the Democratic party on local issues, and after the 1880 campaign, on general issues as well.

Consequently when the Charlotte Observer came to hand we were somewhat prepared to listen to a certain portion of the statement without wonder, but one part of the letter was certainly a surprise: we refer to the allegations concerning certain papers in Raleigh. We would like to ask who who own these papers? Captain Ashe explicitly denies any outside ownership—and so do we.

PARTY TENDENCIES.

The indications being that in the Presidential election next year a "solid South" will be met by a solid North, it becomes an interesting question to the voter who thinks for himself, what kind of Republicanism is that which is likely to prevail. The tendencies of parties during the last year has been toward their opposite extremes. The figure of General Grant looms up in the background on the Republican side, in response to reasonable demands made by the Democratic politicians in Congress. Milder counsels are silenced. Sectional prejudices are again appealed to. The Chandlers, Conklings, Camerons, Carpenters, Logans, et id omne genus, come to the front on the Republican side, to meet the Blackburns, the Singletons, the Hookers, the Knotts, and all the extremists on the Democratic side. Bulldozing breeds bayonets. Republican politicians already begin to say that the negroes will vote for Grant, while for any other candidate they will not risk their lives. It is sadly instructive to see how one evil grows out of another—how one folly follows another. The independent voter, looking on from the outside, can see plainly enough that either party loses by taking an extreme position. The Republicans should not need any further instruction on that point. Grantism, with all that it implied—bummers at the front in the North, carpet baggery triumphant in the South—came very near being the death of the Republican party. It drove out the great mass of the independent voters by successive emigrations, and left the party in a popular majority in 1876. We all know how it got a new lease of life, and it is not necessary to say anything about it here. But with that new lease it got new vigor and growth. What was the secret of that? Liberality. The President, with a shadow on his title, and with liberal men for his advisers, was wise enough to adopt a liberal, constitutional policy. He gave back to the Southern States the right of local self-government. Whether he did this because it was right or because it was expedient, it had an excellent effect. Not only was the condition of the South improved, but the Republican party, in spite of the savage denunciations of the extremists, began to grow in favor with the people and to win back the independent voters who had been driven out of it. An administration generally—almost invariably—loses strength in the first half of its term. In the case of this administration it was different. It rapidly gained new adherents, and the opposition is much less powerful in this Congress than it was in the last. Between Democratic extremism and Republican moderation—the latter a close adherence to the Constitution—the independent voters found no difficulty in choosing. Finally, in the extra session of last spring, the Democrats were unwise enough to force an issue which could not fail to arouse a solid North and set it against a solid South. The Republicans had everything in their favor. They only needed to rally around the administration and the Constitution, and appeal to the people. But they were not wise enough to do that. The Republican extremists—the stalwarts who had denounced the conciliatory policy of President Hayes—thought it was their turn. They declared that policy a failure, though its success was then most apparent, and, stepping to the front, began to appeal to sectional hate and to renew all those bad methods and dogmas which came so near doing the party to death in 1876. The stalwarts are in control in the great State of New York and elsewhere. They threaten to carry the National Convention and make the ticket. It will be a terrible blunder if they are permitted to prevail. for, if they win the election, it will only be by a choice of evils. The Democrats have shown a disposition to give the Republican candidate an easy road to the White House, but the stalwart Republicans are doing all in their power to awaken the distrust of that class of thinking voters which will decide the contest next year.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The labor greenback orators have a new, and, to them, comforting idea. The trade revival "is to be only temporary."

The county convention of the Democrats of Center county, Pa., passed resolutions demanding the nomination of Mr. Tilden for the Presidency.

Senator Wallace, Speaker Randall, Congressmen Clymer and Blackburn and Governor McClellan have been invited to attend the Democratic picnic in Cumberland county, Pa., on the 27th, and make speeches.

Hon. George C. Gorham has arrived in Washington. Those who think he has turned Democrat would be greatly surprised to hear him talk, while he says that under the same circumstances he would pursue the same course as he did in the late California elections.

Mr. Charles Francis Adams writes a letter to the Nation, saying that "it may well be doubted whether any intelligent independent would now feel called upon to lift a finger to put one of the political parties in power or keep the other out."

President Hayes is doing his best to start a Democratic Presidential boom in favor of his Ohio brother, Senator Pendleton. He is ably seconded by Mr. Pendleton's friends, and the thing is likely to get under way at almost any moment. It is firmly anchored yet, however.

With their usual precipitation the anti-Tilden portion of the Democratic journals declare that the muddle in New York clearly shows that Mr. Tilden is not the man to lead the party next year. If he cannot harmonize his party in his own State, he can't expect to harmonize it in the whole country. How that will amuse the Sage of Cipher Alley! What does he care about harmony? Nobody knows better than he that the party does not want him; and nobody knows better than he that nevertheless the party must take him.

A Big Thing for the Railroads.

Washington Post.

If all the Ohio men in Washington go home to vote, a sort of Sunday stillness and an air of semi-desolation will settle down on the city. But it will be a big thing for the railroads.

Need No Assistance.

Washington Post.

The New York Democrats are very well, thank you, and need no outside assistance—so their representatives state to the Democratic Joint Executive Committee. Such expressions of confidence are very cheering at this juncture.

Growing Sensible.

Washington Post.

It is noticed that the more sensible of the Republican papers have stopped abusing the Southern people for electing so many soldiers to office since the Northern soldiers rose up en masse and demanded the same style of treatment.

Grant's Position in the Race.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Grant has a great advantage over all other Republican candidates for President. He doesn't have to carry his own State. In fact, he doesn't belong to any State in particular.

Strong Evidence.

Philadelphia Times.

One of the best evidences in the world that Tilden has again begun to run for the Presidency, is the fact that his income tax suit is getting another warming over in the courts. This case is kept on hand for just such emergencies.

Tall Cotton.

Monroe Enquirer, 20th.

We have a sample stalk of cotton from the farm of Mr. Sheppard Edwards, who lives near Polkton, which measures nine feet in height. Mr. Jno. M. Liles, who brought this specimen in, says that Mr. E. has about half an acre that will average eight and a half feet in height. It is growing on second year's hill land, without any fertilizer. This, we think, will certainly take the lead so far as height is concerned.

The Child-Frog.

Monroe Enquirer, 20th.

The father of that monstrosity, the child-frog, speaks of making an exhibition tour with it this Fall. It is stated by the father, a negro living some ten or twelve miles south of this place, that this prodigious lusus naturæ is an almost exact counterpart of the frog—with hands, feet, and in form of body, very nearly similar to that of this amphibious animal, and in habits almost the same. It exhibits a decided preference for the watery element; and at night when the croaking, guttural notes of the numberless "Neptunian choirs" are re-echoed and reverbrated through the woodland marshes, this would-be aquatic peals forth its strange, unnatural song, which the father avers is almost the same in intonation and sound, as that produced by the pond frog, only on a coarser and louder scale, keeping it up until about the hour of midnight when he, she or it lulls him, her or itself into quietness and sleep. It has been on exhibition in this place for the past two days.

A Suspicion.

Washington Post.

The coolest specimen of insolence that has appeared in the press for some months is the remark of Mr. Hayes, that "there is a suspicion of trickery hanging about Tilden."

VEGETINE

For Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fever,

Or what is more commonly termed FEVER AND AGUE, with pain in the loins and throuh the back, and indescribable chilly sensation down the spine, an irresistible disposition to yawn pain in the eyes, which is increased by moving them, a blue tinge in the skin, and great listlessness and debility. Vegetine is a safe and positive remedy. It is compounded exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks and herbs, and so strongly concentrates that it is one of the greatest cleansers of the blood that is or can be put together. Vegetine does not stop with breaking Chills and Fever, but it extends its wonderful influence into every part of the human system, and entirely eradicates every taint of disease. Vegetine does not act as a powerful cathartic, or debilitate the bowels and cause the patient to dread other serious complaints which must inevitably follow; but it strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restores the liver and kidneys to healthy action, regulates the bowels, and assists Nature in performing all the duties that devolve upon her.

Thousands of invalids are suffering today from the effects of powerful purgative nostrums, frightful quantities of quinine, and poison doses of arsenic, neither of which ever have, or ever could, reach the true cause of heir tcomplaint.

works in the human system in perfect harmony with nature's laws, and while it is pleasant to the taste, genial to the stomach, and mild in its influence on the bowels, it is absolute in its action on disease, and is not a vile, nauseous Bitters, purging the invalid into false hope that they are being cured, Vegetine is a purely Vegetable Medicine, compounded upon scientific principles. It is indorsed by the best physicians where its virtues have been tested, is recommended only where medicine is needed, and is not a mixture of cheap whiskey sold under the cloak of Bitters.

GIVES HEALTH, STRENGTH, AND APPETITE.

POLICE TESTIMONY.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

Dear Sir,—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merits of Vegetine. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine, and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of debilitated or impoverished state of the blood, its effects are really wonderful; and, for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood, it appears to work like a charm; and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results; and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine.

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side, sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

A Mixed Brood.

Abbeville (La.) Meridional.

A lady residing at Cow Island in this parish wishing to "set" a hen went into the field adjoining her residence where some of her chickens has been "laying," and produced some seventeen eggs and placed them under the hen. When in the course of "human events" the chickens were hatched, lo, and behold, there came forth four small-sized alligators. It is supposed that alligators from an adjoining marsh had deposited their eggs in the field and she not knowing the difference placed them under the hen. And what is more strange the young alligators follow the mother hen around the premises as happy as a Colorado beetle in a potato patch.

Indiana Civilization.

A man was found dead at Newpoint, Ind., with a bullet in his head. A hint at the manner of his death was given by the evidence of an interrupted game of poker. In his hand were four kings, while four queens lay near by, having probably been dropped by the exasperated antagonist and murderer.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

Humor on a Child

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen, My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the child ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface all the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully, JOHN L. SURRY.
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.
BOSTON, April 15, 1878.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colo. ado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works like a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommend it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin St., Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

Prickly Heat.

Incidental to the Texan Climate.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about.
Yours truly, THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, Texas, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted, in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any these prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.

For the South Atlantic States cloudy or partly cloudy weather, preceded by possibly occasional rains on the coast: colder northwest winds; rising barometer.

Index to New Advertisements.

E. J. HARDIN—Grocery.
ALFRED WILLIAMS—Local notice.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——I dreampt I saw a "walker" gaunt
Who did not claim the belt;
A politician, too, went by
Who bribes had never smelt;
A girl whose love would last a month,
Who would not flirt and lie;
A trustee and a treasurer
Who did not steal and fly;
A singer and an actor that
To nurse to spite did seem;
But this, as Eugene Aram said,
Was "nothing but a dream."

——Vegetables begin to look sickly.

——Captain C. M. Cooke is in the city.

——Two more marriage license issued yesterday.

——Cotton at nine and a half and nine and five eights.

——Dull again yesterday with the county officials.

——Mr. J. L. Ford, of Ford's Opera Company, is in the city.

——The watermellon has about become a thing of the past.

——Yesterdays revenue collections amounted to $11,776.36.

——The mayor's court didn't convene yesterday. No offenders.

——Glass ball shooting again to-morrow afternoon, by the Raleigh Gun Club.

——No old bonds received for exchange at the State Treasury yesterday.

——Edward Smith, a youth of eighteen, was buried yesterday. He died of diphtheria.

——George W. Chaffin has been appionted gauger and storekeeper in the fifth collection district.

——The fellow who asked for a lock of his girl's hair was informed that "it costs money, hair does."

——One swallow does not make a Summer, but an inverted tack on a chair will make one spring.

——Business lively yesterday, with the merchants, particularly those in the cotton and commission business.

—— Center Lodge, Knights of Pythias meets to-night at 7:30, o'clock shrap. Members will please attend promptly.

——The man who is constantly agitating the question, "Where do all the pins go?" ought to know that he is guilty of a Pin-aphorism.

——One reason why children like the mother the best is because she can rarely find the boot-jack until after the occasion has past away.

——The hotel man who knows his business will starch his napkins till you can't bend them. Guests will then use their handkerchiefs instead and save washing.

——Col A. B. Andrews, who has been quite sick for some time, was able to be out a short while yesterday. He is rapidly impoving, his numerous friends will be pleased to learn.

——The little masters and misses of the graded school may be seen in a body of abont five hundred strong marching up Fayetteville street every afternoon about three o'clock.

——A woman who comes into church half an hour late in order to show off her good clothes should be looked on mildly. She is simply making room in Heaven for two women in calico.

——Mr. W. B. Hutchings the sadler will to-day remove his stock from the store now occupied by him on Fayetteville street, to the store, second door from the NEWS office, on Martin street.

—— Exchange place was completely blocked with country wagons and drays yesterday morning, and things presented a truly lively appearance. It took two policemen some time to get the streets cleared so that travel could be resumed.

——"What is your name?" asked a teacher of a boy. "My name is Jule," was the reply. Whereupon the teacher impressively said: "You should Lave said: Julius, sir. And now, my lad," turning to another boy, "what is your name?" "Bilious, sir."

——The good work of macadamizing Wilmington street progresses. The hands are now engaged at the intersection of Martin and Wilmington streets, and in a few days that part of Martin on Exchange place will have been paved also.

——Mr. E. J. Hardin to-day announces to the readers of the NEWS that he is carrying a full stock of groceries, etc., both heavy and fancy. Read his new advertisement in another column and then pay him a purchasing visit when you need goods in his line.

——A small negro boy got tired of consulting the city hall clock, every time he wanted to know the time of day, and decided to have a time-piece of his own. Acting upon this suggestion of his, after watching his chances, he yesterday succeeded in hooking a party's watch. The police nabbed him and he is now resting in the station house. His examination will be had to-day.

On the Old Stamping Ground.

In the course of a few weeks Mr. John Spellman will revive the State Journal.

Another Drummer.

The State Treasurer yesterday issued a drummers' license to J. A. Hays & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Attention R. L. I.

There will be a drill meeting of your company to-night at 8 o'clock. Every member is requested to be present.

By order of the Captain.
R. E. LUMSDEN, Acting O. S.

And Still they Come.

Sheriff C. C. Sanford of Davie county, yesterday delivered to the penitentiary authorities one Giles Cornetza, convicted of larceny and sentenced to serve his State by gratuitously laboring therefor for the space of twelve months.

Iredell on Executors.

This valuable law book has been out of print for many years. Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co., Raleigh, have a few copies for sale and offer them at $5.00 each. For any scarce volumes of the N. C. Reports write to Messrs. A. W. & Co., and they can be obtained.

Unmailable Matter.

A letter addressed to Arthur Kirkland, Teachey's Depot, Duplin county, N. C., has only one cent prepaid on it. Two more necessary for its delivery. A package addressed to Miss C. E. McNeill, labeled paterns, bears insufficient postage and consequently is no go. T. J. Southerland, Wilmington, N. C., will receive a package when postage theron is sufficiently prepaid.

Dr. Ledoux at the State Fair.

We are gratified to learn that Dr. A. R. Ledoux of the State Experimental Station at Chapel Hill, will make an exhibit of preparations from his laboratory, and other illustrative material, to show the people something from this important division of the Agricultural Department. We hope his display will be full and complete, to thoroughly illustrate its workings as far as can be done in that manner.

Fruits at the Fair.

In spite of the unfortunate season last spring our horticulturalists will be well represented. Mr. Perry, of Chatham, has entered a large variety of fruits and orchard products. Captain Atkinson has been asigned space, with promise of a fine array of mountain apples from beyond the ridge. N. W. Craft, of Yadkin, will further sustain the honor of the west. We believe Mr. Craft is also a nurseryman. Dr. Foust, of Alamance, never fails to make a good show for that fine region of orchards. Let the east come forward also and join the center and west in the feast of the Pomona.

Justice's Court.

Justice Barbee didn't have time to sleep much yesterday.

The first offender hauled up was George Hinton, charged with an affray last Sunday. The machine couldn't be got in working order for his case and so it was postponed until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

G. H. Marcom gave bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance this morning a 11 o'clock, when he will explain how it was that he assaulted a party with a deadly weapon.

James Jeffreys was escorted by an officer before his honor, having been arrested upon a warrant charging him with an assault with a deadly weapon, but on account of "indisposition" he was furnished a downy bed in the county jail to sleep off that indisposition. He will be tried to-day.

Fords Juvenile Troupe.

This troupe puts in its appearance at Tucker Hall on Tuesday night. They have received some very handsome notices from the press. Here is what the Portsmouth Times says:

A large and appreciative assemblage greeted Ford's Juvenllie Opera Company last night upon its first appearance in our city, and rarely has an audience been more satisfactorily entertained. Right handsomely was their work done by the little singers, and the acting would have done credit to any company of adults. It is fair to say that Miss Lillie Parslow, as Josephine, was the favorite of the evening, singing and acting with ease and composure, but possessing withal a childish innocence. It is not intended thus to detract from the other members of the company. The tenor of Ralph Rackstraw was a good one, the young gentleman singing with a deal of accuracy. Masters R. Coverdale and George Leubert, taking the roles respectively of Dick Deadeye and the marine, supported their parts to perfect satisfaction, the presence of the latter acting as a signal to the audience for a laugh. The choruses were an attractive feature in the music, displaying a great deal of care and practice. We commend these little ones to our friends.

Donations to The North Carolina Agricultural Society.

The following are donations to the North Carolina Agricultural Society for the 19th Annual State Fair, to be held at Raleigh, October 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th next, acknowledged by C. B. Denson, secretary, in behalf of the Executive Committee:

One Derby Fifth Wheel, No. 1; one Derby Fifth Wheel, No. 2; one Cincinnati Fifth Wheel, No. 3; one Larkan's, No. 6, one Derby, No. 8; one Brewster, No. 11; one Brewster, No. 12; one Cincinnati, No. 14; one Cincinnati, No. 15; one Wilcox's Patent Anti-Rattler; one pair each bent and straight stay end ties; one pair each oval stay end ties; one set stay ends, No. 1; two sets stay ends, No. 3; two sets stay ends, No. 4; three sets offsets, No. 2; two sets oval stay ends, No. 6; two sets offsets, No. 7; two Derby single and two double reach plates; one ditto with Pulman guard; one pair couplings for shaft; one pair couplings for whiffletree; one set Philadelphia slats; one set New York slat irons; two pairs Derby steps; two pairs Diamond; two pairs Star; one plain iron Star; one set long jet ends; one Prindle Jack; two pairs Ladd's anti-rattlers; one pair model anti-rattlers; five sets corner irons; one champion whiffle tree plate; one pair Mozier's reach sockets, etc., given by Wilcox & Howe, Birmingham, Connecticut, manufacturers of carriage hardware. We are indebted to this leading firm for a former donation, and double so, for the exceedingly handsome contribution detailed in part above. The attention of the trade is invited. Their goods were much admired last year.

Two boxes plug tobacco, $30, given by Joseph E. Pogue, manufacturer, Henderson, N. C. This handsome contribution is from one of the most active and energetic of the young and thrifty men of enterprise in our midst. We are glad to know of the prosperity of his house in Henderson as well as that of our friend E. H. Pogue, who manufactures fine smoking tobacco in Durham.

Mr. Pogue will make a handsome exhibit of plug tobacco at the fair, and Henderson will be otherwise represented.

Two stocks of bees in hives with honey for full winter supply, and ten pounds honey in comb, $22, given by that veteran apiarian, Rev. D. P. Meacham, Raleigh. Here is a fine opportunity to secure a fine stock of bees. Few know the great value of bee culture in the Union, creating, as it does, universal wealth from purely waste products. It is indeed of no small importance to North Carolina.

It is asserted that the ordinary cosmetics used by ladies are productive of great mischief.
